PRESCOTT.

YAVAPAI COUNTY. A postal, express and telegraph town. Reached by A. & P. R. R. to Prescott Junction, thence by P. & A. C. R. R., of which latter road it is the southern terminus.

The Territorial capital and county seat of Yavapai County, is beautifully and healthfully situated in a mountainous flat surrounded by groves of stately pines, at an altitude a trifle over a mile above the sea level. The surrounding mountain-tops are snow-capped, and breezes wafted from their heights to the valley below are loaded with a freshness that often drives the people from the streets to the refuge of their household firesides. Prescott is decidedly an American town, and her buildings, both public and private, are models of comfort and elegance. The surrounding forests of pine furnish material of superior quality in abundance. Her chief resources are mining, stock-raising and lumber manufacturing.

The completion of the P. & A. C. R. R. connecting Prescott with the A. & P. system has brought the city more directly in communication with the outside world, and has been the means of attracting visitors and prospectors who would otherwise have passed by, rather than take the long stage ride from Maricopa.

The city supports two daily and weekly papers,—the Journal-Miner under the management of Mr. J. C. Martin, and the Courier, edited and owned by Mr. J. H. Marion, both ably-conducted sheets, fully alive to the interests of Prescott and the Territory generally.

The city has good schools, and the different religious bodies are nearly all represented. Whipple Barracks, one of the pleasantest military stations in the Territory, is situated about three-quarters of a mile from Prescott. The population of Prescott is estimated at 6,000.

It is situated at the foot of a very low range of rolling hills, on a nearly level table-land. To the northward, for many miles, the country is a rocky plain, deeply cut into the numerous gullies and shallow ravines. Like most other places in Arizona, Tombstone is surrounded by irregular and broken ranges of mountains, making a mountain fence, consisting of the Santa Catalinas, Whetstone, Mustang, Huachuca, Mule and Dragoon Mountains. In the latter range, twelve miles distant, and in plain sight, is one of the noted Apache dens—"Cochise Stronghold."

It is one of the liveliest of the Pacific slope towns, and has a population of about 10,000. It is well laid out with broad streets, and for a mountain town is well built. Its climate is healthful, and although the days are warm in summer, the nights are cool and pleasant.

There are three water companies supplying the city with water, which get their supply from springs 3 to 26 miles distant. The water is clear, sparkling and sweet, but very hard. The price to families is about three-fourths cent per gallon. Mining is carried on to a large extent in the town, and within a radius of a mile of it, many of the mines being very rich, with a good prospect of lasting for years.

The city has post, express and telegraph facilities, two banks, the Tombstone Bank and the Bank of Cochise County, one daily newspaper, the Tombstone Daily Prospector, ably conducted by Messrs. Nash & Co, and one weekly newspaper, the Epitaph, edited and published by Messrs. Reppy & Peck, while the wants of the wayfarer are attended to by Mr. Joseph Pascholy, of the Occidental Hotel.

TUCSON.

PIMA COUNTY. Is on the line of the S. P. R. R., 978 miles from San Francisco. It is one of the oldest places in the Territory, has a population of 10,000, and is the county seat of Pima County. The place supports several extensive commercial establishments, whose trade reaches far into some of the Mexican provinces. Mining and stock-raising are the interests which support it, and the country that surrounds it is said to be capable of sustaining a much greater population than is at present found there.

The beautiful valley of Santa Cruz, in which it is located, was settled as long ago as 1560, making Tucson the next oldest town in the United States, Santa Fe, New Mexico, having been built five years before. A few miles below Tucson there seems to be the ruins of an old town, but no information can be obtained as to its history, or circumstances of its destruction. It is thought by some that Tucson was once a Spanish military station, for the purpose of protecting the Mission of San Xavier Del Bac, a short distance to the south.

The land near Tucson is very rich. The city supports five hotels, the two principal being the Cosmopoliton, kept by Mr. S Katzenstein, and the San Xavier, kept by Messrs. Wheeler & Perry. It has also a bank, the Consolidated Bank of Tucson; two daily and weekly newspapers, the Arizona Citizen and the Arizona Star a public library, and all the postal, telegraph and express accessories of a thriving town.

other complaints, Yuma is destined to become the resort par excellence of the Pacific Coast

In 1870 the county seat was removed to this place from La Paz. The Territorial prison, located at this place, was begun in 1877. Yuma is 126 feet above the sea level, and 178 miles from the mouth of the Colorado. The river is about 500 feet wide at this place. Yuma as a sanitarium attracts some attention. For bronchial, lung, and kidney diseases the climate is unsurpassed. Sun-baths can be obtained with ease. The nights are delicious, and the steady, unbroken therometrical range of fall and winter make it almost unapproachable. Many large canals are now being constructed that will reclaim millions of acres of rich alluvial soil, that will produce nearly all the tropical fruits, sugar-cane, cotton, and the sugar beet.

Yuma has one newspapar, the Arizona Sentinel, edited and owned by Mr. J. W. Dorrington, and travelers will find good accommodation at the Southern Pacific Hotel. Tucson is its nearest banking town.

EL PASO.

EL PASO COUNTY. Has a population of 10,000; altitude 3,800; Court House $110,000; school-house $20,000; smelter $200,000; appropriation for public buildings $250,000; only international street-car line in the world; two ice factories; water works; electric light and gas; sewer system and free delivery system; finest all-the-year-round climate in the world; is the principal port of entry between the United States and Mexico. Terminus of five trunk lines of railroad. It is well supplied with hotels, churches and societies. With all its advantages, El Paso has a brillant future to look forward to.

The El Paso Water Power and Irrigation Co., recently chartered, have inaugurated an immense enterprise. They propose taking water from the Rio Grande in an immense ditch 30 feet wide at top and 5 feet deep. This will be taken out 4 miles above, and conveyed in pipe lines through the city and will cover for irrigation a valley 54 miles long by 5 in width, also a large portion of the sloping foot-hill lands north of the valley, which is considered the best grape lands in the country.

NEW MEXICO.

See, also, List of Towns Received too Late for Regular Insertion.

On March 2, 1867, that portion of New Mexico north of the 37th parallel of latitude was by an act of Congress attached to Colorado, leaving the New Mexico of to-day with the following boundaries: North by the 37th parallel; east by the 103d meridian; south by the 32d parallel, except a few square miles lying to the south of the latter on the southwest; and on the west by the 109th meridian. The territory thus has an average breadth of 335 miles; length of eastern boundary, 345 miles, and length of western boundary, 390 miles; the whole covering an area of 121,201 square miles. By geographical divisions it is bounded on the north by the State of Colorado, on the east by the public domain and the State of Texas and the Republic of Mexico, and on the west by the Territory of Arizona.

THE RESOURCES OF NEW MEXICO.

There are three interests in New Mexico worthy of consideration: The mineral, the grazing, or pastoral, and the agricultural; and they may be said to constitute the resources of the Territory, as manufacturing is confined almost exclusively to jewelry, of which very exquisite work in filigree is produced in Santa Fe, mostly from gold and silver native to the Territory.

AGRICULTURE.

Agriculture in New Mexico is yet in its primitive condition. The wooden plow of the Mexican fathers holds preference with the majority of farmers. Development is barely sufficient to serve anticipation. Corn, wheat, oats, barley, and the table vegetables generally are raised with a view to the home market, which is quite limited. Corn is produced best in the valleys along the banks of streams. I have seen wheat and oat-fields 6,000 and 7,000 feet above the sea level as rich as any in Illinois and Minnesota. It is not possible to state even approximately the area of such productions. All irrigable lands, wherever they may be in the Territory, belong to the productive or farming class. The depth of the soil is something wonderful. With rains as in the Mississippi Valley, the results of intelligent labor would astonish the world; as it is, no one thinks of land for cultivation except it be irrigable. In this sense water is king.

THE MINERALS OF NEW MEXICO.

New Mexico will come quite up with her neighbors in the yield of precious metals. A variety of causes have heretofore contributed to prevent her thorough exploration for such wealth. Both Mexicans and Indians are indifferent to discoveries in this line; in fact the latter yet make it a capital offense to show a prospector anything of the kind. A Pueblo might be induced to part with his eye-teeth; no inducement could prevail upon him to take a white man to a mine; and in the hands of these people the golden keys have been held in tight grips ever since the expulsion of the Spaniards. Hence the ignorance prevalent with respect to the mineral riches of the Territory, and the heretofore utter failure of attempts at their development. It is absurd to say that an arbitrary geographical line marks a silver or a gold limit. With productive mining districts on the south, west and north, and with geological formations identically the same, the best of the scientists will be hard put to, to give a reason why New Mexico is barren, and Chihuahua, Arizona and Colorado are rich beyond computation in gold, gilver, copper and galena. There are more traces and signs of ancient mining in New Mexico than in either Colorado or Arizona.

Already enough is known to warrant assertion that the Territory is well stored with gold, silver, iron, copper, lead, zinc, mica, gypsum, coal, marble, precious stones, and stone of every variety for building.

SPRINGS, MINERAL AND HOT.

Few parts of the world are as bounteously supplied with healing water as New Mexico. They are found by Fernandez, in Taos County; at Las Vegas, San Miguel County; at Ojo Caliente, in Rio Arriba County; near Jemes, in Bernalillo County; near Fort McRea, Socorro County; Fort Seldon, Dona Ana County, and at Mimbres, in Grant County. Those at Jemes are probably unexcelled in the world. At Las Vegas elaborate preparations are in progress for the care and entertainment of guests and invalids. Any and all of these springs are equal in curative qualities, if not superior, to those in Arkansas. They have certainly the attraction of an unsurpassed climate.

RAILROADS.

The A. T. & S. F. R. R. entering the Territory through the Raton Mountains, just south of Trinidad, Colorado, has traversed the Territory in a southwesterly direction, and is completed to El Paso, Texas, where it joins with the Mexican Central forming a direct route to the city of Mexico, its course lying along the Rio Grande. It has formed a junction with the Southern Pacific at Deming.

The D. & R. G. (narrow gauge) has entered the Territory south of Alamosa, Colorado, and is now completed to Santa Fe. A branch also extends to the westward almost on the line between New Mexico and Colorado to the "San Juan Country" of the Northwest.

The Texas, Santa Fe and Northern Railroad connects Santa Fe with the D. & R. G., and is expected also to run down the rich valley of the Pecos. The A. & P. road is completed from Albuquerque, on the Rio Grande, where it forms a junction with the A. T. & S. F. R. R. westward to Barstow there connecting with the Southern California R. R. to San Diego, and to Mohave, where it connects with the S. P. main line to San Francisco.

ALBUQUERQUE.

BERNALILLO COUNTY. Albuquerque, the county seat of Bernalillo County and principal commercial city of New Mexico, is situated on the Rio Grande River, 924 miles from Kansas City, 1,197 miles from San Francisco, and 887 miles from Los Angeles, California. Albuquerque is the junction of the A. T. & S. F. and the A. & P. R. R., and is the end of two divisions of the first-named road and also the principal western headquarters of the latter road, their general western offices being located here. This road has also extensive shops, roundhouses, etc., here, which employ from 205 to 300 men, the number of which is constantly being increased. It is probable that the A. T. & S. F. R. R. will also erect shops and roundhouses here at an early day, they now receiving accommodations in this line from the A. & P., with which they connect.

In addition to these two roads, now completed, the S. L. & S F. R. R. is building this way, having its western terminus at present at Sepulpa, in the Indian Territory, and having several surveying parties in the field locating the line in this direction, and it is believed that within the next year they will make a connection with the A. & P. R. R. at this point.

The A. T. & S. F. is also pushing the construction of a branch of their road from Kiowa, Kansas, to this city, and are striving to reach this point if possible before the S. L. & S. F. R. R.

The C. & R. I. are also constructing a road into this territory, and from what is considered reliable information, it will be divided at a point in the Taos Valley, in this Territory, into two branches, one of which will strike westward into California, the other coming down the Rio Grande Valley to El Paso, in Texas, which branch would necessarily pass through Albuquerque.

Our schools consist of a fine two-story brick academy, under the charge of the Sisters of Charity, a one-story, but quite commodious, brick academy, a public school building and a Methodist college, the latter of which is now under way but a few months, but which owns its own building, has an excellent faculty, and will develop under its plan of organization into a university on a large scale, as it has the support of that denomination in the East to the fullest extent. The United States Government also has a fine school here for the instruction of Indian children, which has elegant and commodious grounds and buildings and employs a large corps of skilled teachers. The Presbyterian Board of Home Missions also has a fine Indian school here, which employs an able corps of assistants.

The city has good sidewalks extending throughout the limits. There are several excellent hotels, the San Felipe being one of the largest and finest brick edifices in the west, elegantly furnished throughout, and its cuisine is not surpassed east or west.

Grapes are raised largely in the valley, the mission variety being principally grown, but other and improved varieties, including most of the raisin grapes, succeed here as well as in any part of California, and produce as heavy crops with no more cost for production. Peaches, pears, apples, apricots, prunes, and, in fact, all the fruits of the temperate zone produce enormous crops.

We have here in the new town a Catholic, an Episcopalian, a Methodist Episcopal Church, a Methodist Episcopal Church South, a Presbyterian and a Congregational society, each of which have good, comfortable houses of worship.

The city of Albuquerque contains, including the old town, which is contiguous, about 8,000 inhabitants, about equally divided between the old and new towns. The new town was laid out in 1880, and is almost entirely American.

EXCELSIOR SELF-REGULATING WINDMILL!

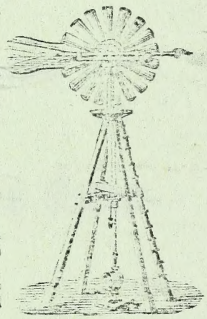

IT IS THE BEST FOR EIGHT REASONS: First—It is a positive self-regulator. Second—It has less working parts. Third—It is direct acting. Fourth—It has less joints. Fifth—It has less points of friction. Sixth—It has less points to oil. Seventh—It requires less attention. Eighth and last, but not least—It is offered to the public at as low a price as many of the inferior mills now being sold in this market.

THE EXCELSIOR WINDMILL

Was awarded the first or cash premium at the California State Agricultural Fair in 1872, the only time exhibited there, and it has received a larger number of premiums at the Mechanics' Institute Fairs in San Francisco than any other windmill ever exhibited there.

THE EXCELSIOR is manufactured at EXCELSIOR WINDMILL AND PUMP WORKS, 211 Mission Street, San Francisco, H. H. BODWELL & SON, Proprietors.

N. B.—All our work is fully guaranteed. We also manufacture a ROSETTE WHEEL, from 10 to 16 feet in diameter. This mill is self-regulating, and is a good, substantial mill, and is offered to the public at fully 15 per cent less than any mill sold in this market.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List, or if in town call and see us and examine our work, and we will suit you in price and quality, for we are going to sell to the customer at the lowest price possible.

☞ EVERY MILL FULLY GUARANTEED. ☜

CALIFORNIA WINDMILL PUMP!

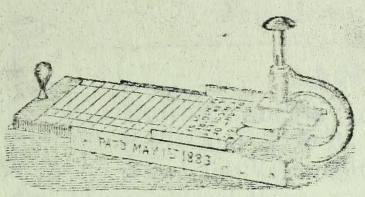

These pumps were designed especially for windmill work. They are superior to any pump of Eastern make, both in weight, strength and inside finish.

They are constructed in the simplest form of a lift and force pump, and are not liable to get out of order.

Sole Manufacturers of Wadham's Patent Grape Crusher and Stemmer. Water Tanks of All Sizes.

LAS VEGAS.

SAN MIGUEL COUNTY. A post and express office, situated on the River Gallinas and touched by the A. T. & S. F. R. R., 770 miles from Kansas City and 83 miles from Santa Fe, county seat. Altitude, 6,152 feet. Site of railroad repair shops, and several manufacturing enterprises.

Las Vegas depends for its support upon the mining, wool and lumber interests, and its rapid growth and increasing business point to it as the most progressive town in this region. The old town is a mile from the depot, the new town, East Las Vegas, having sprung up since the railroad was opened. There is a street railway connecting the two towns, and numerous buildings in the intervening space, make them virtually one town. The city also possesses gas works and water works, two daily newspapers, two national banks and several commodious hotels. Well water and river water are both used here. The Gallinas River is a clear mountain stream, with a pebbly bottom, coursing through the heart of the city. The population is at present estimated at 7,500, and increasing daily. The Las Vegas Hot Springs, situated a few miles from the town, are a favorite resort for invalids and pleasure-seekers. A magnificent hotel has been erected and bathing facilities added.

Las Vegas is a banking town and has telegraph and telephone facilities and good hotel accommodations.

SANTA FE.

SANTA FE COUNTY. Territorial capital and its recognized political and educational center. The "City of the Holy Faith" stands on both sides of the Santa Fe Creek, and many of its buildings are of adobe, or sun-dried brick, one story high and covered with dirt. As the walls are thick, they are consequently warm in winter and cool in summer. The altitude is 6,862 feet. Population about 10,000, of which 5,500 are of Spanish and Mexican descent. The first Spaniards came here in 1582, and found the Indian village bearing the marks of time already established, so that Santa Fe may with justice claim to be the oldest city in the United States. In 1680, the Pueblo Indians secretly conspired to overcome the whites and drive them from the country. Santa Fe contained at that time about 1,000 inhabitants, citizens and soldiery. After a siege of ten days, during which the Spainards lost nearly 500 killed and disabled, they resolved to abandon the place. After suffering incredible hardships, the miserable remnant at last reached El Paso, Mexico. The Indians remained in undisturbed possession for the next twelve years, when the Spaniards again returned, under De Vargas Ponce De Leon, and after a desperate battle with heavy losses on both sides, the Indians were again compelled to submission. The Spaniards took possession on an eminence overlooking the city, supposed to be the same site as old Fort Marcy, where they remained until the following year, when they decided to remove into the city. This was opposed by the Indians, and another battle followed, resulting in the discomfiture of the Pueblos with a loss of 175 killed. Seventy principal warriors and chiefs captured were immediately condemned and shot by order of De Vargas. On the eighteenth of September, 1846, during the war with Mexico, Santa Fe was captured by the United States military forces under General Kearny, though without any fighting in or about the city. During the late civil war Santa Fe was captured by the Confederates, under Gen. H. H. Sibley, in 1862, who remained in possession about a month.

Within 25 miles of Santa Fe are inexhaustible beds of the best anthracite coal, that cannot be excelled by the finest coal of Pennsylvania.

It is found that the developing mines and growing cities afford a ready and profitable market for the product of the farm and garden and that the fertile mountain valleys, which abound in the proximity to the mines, afford ample opportunity for the supply of the demand for that product created by the mining camp and the city.

Schools, churches and organized society have sprung into existence where but few years ago were nothing but great ranches and herds of cattle. The railroad construction that has taken place is 38 miles of the Texas, Santa Fe and Northern Narrow-gauge Railroad from Espanola, in Rio Arriba County, the temporary terminus of the Denver and Rio Grande to Santa Fe, and operated by the latter company with a prospective continuance southward to the town of Cerrillos, on the line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. A surveying corps of the Rock Island and Pacific has been making surveys through the northern part of the Territory with a view to construction, but nothing further has yet been accomplished.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Feis also constructing through the Panhandle of Texas towards the eastern border of New Mexico, epreparatory to the construction of connections with its present lines. The Territory has two public buildings—the capitol, or State house, and a penitentiary, authorized by the legislative assembly of 1884; the first at a cost of $200,000 and the second at $150,000. The capitol building is a commodious, well-planned, well appointed and exceedingly elegant structure, creditable alike to the Territory and to the designer, and erected at a cost within the appropriation.

Five of the counties have commodious and tasteful court-houses and jails—those of Bernalillo County, erected at a cost of $97,000; San Miguel, $126,000; Socorro, $48,000; Santa Fe, $50,000; and Grant, $36,000.

An appropriation of $52,000 was made by the last Congress for the completion of a United States building commenced at Santa Fe many years ago, but the work of completion is not yet begun.

STENDER'S ART STUDIO

AND

PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY

No. 504 Kearny Street,

Cor. California St., San Francisco, Cal.

Acknowledged to be the best establishment of this kind on the Pacific Coast, combining an Art Studio of the highest standing with a Photograph Gallery, which is known to turn out the best work in this city.

Pictures Finished in Oil, Crayon, Pastille and Water Colors as well as Photographs--
Taken by the Instantaneous Process--
Of Any Style and Description
At Moderate Prices.

The Latest Style of Pictures Turned out by the above Establishment are the

ELECTRO-CRAYONS.

The Electro-Crayons are taken from life, and worked up in Crayon. These pictures receive a first-class Finish, and will never fade, as so many other pictures do.

THE EXTREMELY LOW PRICE

Of these pictures is $10.00 apiece for life-size heads, and $5.00 for half life size. The entirely new method of making Electro-Crayons is an invention of

STENDER'S STUDIO

And cannot be imitated by any other establishment on the Pacific Coast.

THE ELECTRO-CRAYONS

Being considerable cheaper and far superior in quality to large Photographs, have already proved to be a success.

Established 1852.

SOCORRO.

SOCORRO COUNTY. It is one of the oldest settlements in America, an ancient pueblo settlement having been found upon the site of the present modern city, by the first Spanish expedition, which coming north traversed the Rio Grande Valley. The Spaniards, being quick to perceive the climatic advantages of the location and the varied wonderful resources of the surrounding country, very soon established a permanent settlement, and the first American travelers through these regions found Socorro a thriving and prosperous Mexican plaza. Upon the advent of the railroad during the summer of 1880, the town had a population of 1,200, but since that date the growth has been steady and rapid, so that to-day the city, which was incorporated in January, 1882, has a population of 4,500. The city of Socorro is situated in the Rio Grande Valley, on the A. T. & S. F. R. R., about one thousand miles west of Kansas City, and is almost the geographical center of New Mexico.

Almost immediately after the advent of the railroad, rich mineral, chiefly silver and lead, was discovered in the Socorro Mountain, now within the city limits, and also in the Magdalenas, Gallinas, Mogollons, Ladrones, Limitars, Black Range and other mountains on the west, and in the San Andres, Oscuras, Nogals, Jicarrillas and Manzanas on the east. So that the city is now surrounded by scores of tributary mining districts, containing gold, silver, copper, lead, iron and manganese, also coal, salt, mica, soda, gypsum, lime, kaoline, sulphur, plumbago, marble, fire-clay, and the finest and most durable kind of building stone, etc. Iron, lead and coal abound in inexhaustible quantities in the immediate vicinity of the city.

While being one of the chief commercial points in the Territory, it is beyond question the mining and smelting center of the Southwest.

Shortly after the completion of the railroad, seeing the necessity for more convenient communication with the mining districts of the West, the company built a branch from Socorro to Magdalena and Kelly, thirty miles distant, at the same time deciding in the near future to continue it on to Arizona.

Grain, vegetables and fruits of all kinds grow luxuriantly and yield abundantly, the vine especially doing well, the soil and COLORADO.

Colorado, the youngest of the sisterhood of States, was admitted into the Union in 1877. It lies between the 37th and 41st parallels of north latitude and the 102d and 109th of west longitude.

It is bounded on the north by Wyoming and Nebraska, on the east by Kansas, on the south by New Mexico, and on the west by Utah. It is 380 miles in length by 280 miles in breadth, having an area of 106,400 square miles, or 68,096,000 acres. Its natural divisions are the plains, the foot-hills and the mountain country. It has been estimated that the plains occupy one-third of the whole area, which, with a perfect system of irrigation, must become the source of great agricultural wealth, an industry that is as yet but in its incipiency. Experiments in the cultivation of cereals and vegetables have resulted most satisfactorily, though the location of farming lands has not heretofore been the object of the immigration which has found its way to this favored land. With the increase in population, however, a greater interest seems to center in that particular pursuit which calls the mower and the plow into use, and the future is very near, we dare say, when the agricultural products of the State will command a very high respect in her commercial attractions. The soil is inexhaustible, yielding abundantly, with proper cultivation, everything indigenous to the latitude.

As a grazing and dairy country it is claimed that Colorado has scarcely an equal, since at no season of the year is there a time when nutritious grasses of many varieties cannot be obtained by the cattle which roam at large, requiring no shelter save that furnished in the valleys. These facts are alone sufficient to proclaim to the world that her agricultural capabilities are very great, and that no risk other than that made in all new countries is necessary in order that success may be attained. In the possession of the famous Rocky Mountains, which intersect the State from north to south, Colorado is eminently fortunate, not only because of their illimitable deposits of precious ores, but because they are probably richer in scenic attractions than any other range of mountains in the world. Such a variety of sublime and picturesque scenery as is presented in every section of this noble range, it is universally conceded, is nowhere rivaled, not even in the renowned Alps of Switzerland. A visit to the "Garden of the Gods," Estes Park or Clear Creek Cañon, is attended with most pleasing results invariably, for in each of these places Nature has exerted herself to the utmost in her most exquisite handiwork.

DENVER.

ARAPAHOE COUNTY. The city of Denver lies at an altitude of 5,197 feet, near the western border of the plains, within twelve miles of the Rocky Mountains, the Colorado or front range of which may be seen for an extent of over two hundred miles, forming a magnificent feature of the extended landscape. The plains encompass the city, stretching for hundreds of miles to the north, east, and south, and westward to the mountains. Reaching Denver from the east, after traveling for hundreds of miles over the bare and lonely plains, the sensation is not unlike first stepping on land after a voyage at sea. The contrast is delightful between the great rolling, verdureless tract, whose magnitude can hardly be realized by those who have never crossed it, and the beautiful city which the traveler comes upon suddenly, lying in a slight depression, embowered in thick-set shade trees. Denver is well entitled to the appellation, "the Queen City of the Plains," by which its citizens delight to designate it.

The city was born of the first Pike's Peak gold excitement in 1858–59. In 1860 it was a straggling camp, consisting principally of log cabins and tents in about equal proportions. The city has now a population of over 60,000.

Business in all its branches is represented in Denver. A branch of the U. S. Mint is also located here but is used only for assaying purposes. The city is lighted by the Brush electric light and has an abundant supply of water from the Platte River.

Denver is the capital of Colorado and the county seat of Arapahoe County, and contains the U. S. Courts for the district of Colorado and the Arapahoe County Court House.

The public schools are equal to any in the Union and embrace all grades from the primary department to the high school. There are also numerous private schools and colleges of a high degree of excellence. The city has also a full complement of churches, all denominations being represented.

Denver is also a large railroad center, the D. & R. G. R. R. having their car repair shops and general office here.

LAS ANIMAS.

BENT COUNTY. Las Animas is the county seat of Bent County, (and has been for fifteen years). The town is situated 65 miles west of the Kansas State line, on the line of the A. T. & S. F. R. R., in the valley formed by the junction of the Las Animas and Arkansas Rivers.

The town is laid out in blocks, every block having a 20-foot alley, the streets being 80 and 100 feet wide. Through every street in town are ditches in which water is conducted throughout the city, irrigating the lawns and trees, carrying off the refuse and settling the dust.

The population of Las Animas is now 2,000, its population differing from other Western towns in that it is the home town of many families.

A large, two-story, brick school-house, containing six departments, and presided over by first-class teachers, affords unexceptional school facilities and the formation of a high school district recently will greatly extend the advantages of obtaining a thorough education.

All classes of business, including banking, are carried on, and the professions are all well represented.

The A. T. & S. F. R. R. Townsite Company have bought and laid off an addition of 160 acres east of town, which they are improving and developing into a fine part of the city.

Las Animas is the center of a larger area of valley land than any town on the line of the S. F. R. R., and water is found at the depth of twelve feet. Good land can be located within a few miles of town.

The streams of living water that drain a large and fertile territory and empty into the Arkansas River, within a few miles of our city, are in the Las Animas River, Rule, Adobe and Horse Creeks.

Everything is raised here that can be grown north of the Mason and Dixon line.

We wish to call special attention to the justly celebrated forage plant, alfalfa, that produces three crops annually. Alfalfa does better in this county than anywhere else in Colorado.

Lately the Kit Carson, Las Animas and Southern Railroad Co. organized. The company is backed by the U. P. R. R. Co. They desire to secure a route to Trinidad coal fields, and have secured the above franchise, this giving them the benefit of 86 miles of graded road-bed.

The Arkansas River, Land, Reservoir and Canal Company are now constructing a canal on the north side of the Arkansas River, that is 40 miles in length, and 20 feet wide at bottom, having a capacity to irrigate 50,000 acres of land.

PUEBLO.

PUEBLO COUNTY. Pueblo, by the consolidation of the former towns of Pueblo, Central Pueblo and South Pueblo, is a city of 20,000 inhabitants. The city lies on both sides of the Arkansas River, in the midst of an agricultural and stock-raising region, near mountains rich in coal, iron, lead, silver and gold. The city has good water, gas, electric light, street railway and telephone systems, six banks, wholesale and retail stores, immense steel works, churches, the best public schools in the West, charitable and benevolent institutions and comfortable homes. The climate is dry and mild, the winters are unsurpassed.

Pueblo is connected with the East by the A. T. & S. F. R. R. The Missouri Pacific is now extended to Pueblo and will erect large shops, for the making of cars, on ground donated by the citizens. The Denver, Texas and Fort Worth road will be completed by 1888, bringing Pueblo within 1,000 miles of the Gulf of Mexico and the markets of the world. Pueblo is the center of the Denver and Rio Grande system, whose 1,600 miles of road penetrate the rich valleys of the Rockies and lay at our door coal, iron, lead, silver and gold ores, to be made into useful products by our manufactories. A rival line is the Colorado Midland, completed in July, 1887. Pueblo is connected with Denver and the Northwest by two railroads and a third now building. Pueblo promises to be the greatest manufacturing and commercial center of the Rocky Mountain region. Ditches are projected that will cause the fertile soil to yield bountiful harvests. Oil in paying quantity is found in the Arkansas Valley region, which, when developed fully, will add impetus to the growth of this city. Fruit-raising is another industry to be developed. There is no part of the Union which offers better inducements than Southern Colorado, and more especially the Arkansas Valley.

CALIFORNIA.

See, also, list of towns received too late for regular insertion.

A land flowing with milk and honey was the figurative description of the promised land of the Israelites of old, and no better realization of that dream could be had than by a visit to the California of to-day. Gifted with a climate unknown to any other country of the world; with a soil whose fertility is unknown elsewhere; with mountains and canyons abounding in mineral wealth; with forests of timber whose age may be computed by the thousands of years, and with sons whose enterprise and foresight have taken advantage of those gifts, California stands out particularly blessed among the sisterhood of States.

Railroads have been and are being built throughout the State, redistributing and equalizing the gifts of nature, the wealth of the forest, mountain and canyon to the valley and plain in improved means of cultivation and irrigation, and the product of the valley to refresh the toil-worn miner of the mountain and the busy artisan of the cities.

There is probably in the world's history no State where the march of progress has been so rapid and on so sure a basis as in California, education going hand in hand with commerce and agriculture, and manufacture following in their footsteps.

The schools and colleges of California are unsurpassed by any of her sister States, and, by the munificence of one of her most prominent citizens, will soon stand unrivaled in educational institutions, the world over, the Leland Stanford, Jr., University of California offering alike to atheist and believer, to Jew and Christian, to Catholic and Protestant, the incalculable advantages of the highest university training.

While education has thus firmly obtained a homestead, agriculture has none the less firmly taken root, and the products of the soil of California are to be found in all markets of the world. Viticulture, though still in its infancy, has far surpassed the most sanguine expectations of its promoters, and the wine-growing and raisin-producing industries already rival those of France and Spain. The orange groves of California produce fruit unequaled anywhere else in the world, and, though still young, their owners are already reaping richly the reward of their enterprise. The fruit-growing industry increases yearly, and, with the improved method of transportation by means of refrigerator cars, the fruit of California will soon be placed on the tables of the Atlantic States, as fresh as the day on which it was pulled from the tree.

The manufactures of California continue steadily to increase, and the ring of the hammer and anvil, the buzz of the saw, the whirr of the spindle, and the click of the shuttle are heard throughout the land. Over the cities Mercury has stretched his rod; in the mountains, Vulcan has placed his forge, and on the valleys, Flora, Pomona, and Ceres have lavished their choicest gifts.

While remembering the commerce and agriculture of the Golden State, we would not forget the inducements to pleasure-seekers there are in the abundance and variety of nature's sublimest scenery. Her mountains, bold and rugged, towering into the regions of eternal snow, abound in game of all kinds, offering to the lover of the chase a sportsman's paradise. Her verdant hills, clad with the vine, the olive and fig-tree, her valleys, over which the gentle zephyr of perpetual summer sweeps, are laden with the perfume of a thousand blossoms. Crystal lakes green her Sierras, rivers and streams water her plains, and offer their speckled treasures to the followers of the gentle art.

The Yo Semite Valley, nature's temple, at an altitude of 4,000 feet above the sea level; the monarchs of the redwood forests, sending their branches 300 feet heavenwards; the geysers and hot springs throughout the State,—all offer to visitors an endless and ever-varying panorama of nature's most wonderful works.

Enough has been said of the glorious climate of California to render it proverbial. It can be found to suit people of all constitutions, from the rugged Norseman to the tender victim of phthisical disease, while her medical springs pour forth their healing waters on suffering humanity.

With her schools, churches, and literary institutions, California has provided liberally for the moral training of her youth; her commerce and agriculture provide for their future advancement in life.

The development of the State during the past two years has been phenomenal—especially in the counties of Los Angeles and San Diego, the boom in these two counties having attracted a large amount of Eastern capital. The city of Los Angeles has within that time almost doubled her inhabitants, while the population of San Diego is fourfold what it then was. In the northern portion of the State also there has been marked improvement and the successful growth of citrus fruit in the valley of the Sacramento is calling in capital, and already several large tracts are taken up for the promotion of this industry, it having been successfully demonstrated that the climate of this section of the State is not deleterious to the culture of semi-tropical fruit, while the soil is all that can be desired.

ALAMEDA.

ALAMEDA COUNTY. Alameda, a city of about 10,000 inhabitants, is beautifully located on a peninsula about four miles long, by an average width of perhaps a mile and a quarter, south of Oakland and across San Antonio Creek. Its climate is very much better than that of San Francisco, only ten miles away, with which it is connected by two ferry systems, affording local traveling facilities unequaled in any quarter of the world.

Alameda is essentially a residence place. Business men of San Francisco have their homes here, preferring the sail across the bay to the less pleasant and less invigorating street-car trip to the Western Addition. The public schools of Alameda consist of one high school, three grammar schools, two primary schools, and one ungraded school, with an enrollment of more than 1,500 pupils. The schools rank very high in educational circles, and the high school is an approved school, whose graduates enter the University upon the recommendation of its principal.

There are two post-offices within the limits of the city, and the free delivery system is also under consideration by the post-office authorities.

There are two papers published in Alameda: the Encinal, weekly, which has been published for nineteen years, and the Argus, semi-weekly, now in its tenth year.

Numerous churches and fraternal organizations have been established, and are in a flourishing condition.

Among the many evidences of energetic public spirit, we note that during the past year Alameda has purchased, and now owns, its splendid system of electric lights. The city has also completed its main system of automatic hydraulic sewers, and side sewers in connection therewith are being laid throughout as rapidly as possible.

ANAHEIM.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph town, 26 miles southeast of Los Angeles, on the San Diego branch of the S. P. Co.'s system; situated in the midst of aparticularly fertile section of the country devoted almost exclusively to vineyards, orange groves and apiaries. The district is noted for the excellence of its oranges, and has of late years become one of the largest honey-producing countries in the world, immense quantities of which find a ready market at remunerative prices. The town is in a thriving condition now and real estate has improved greatly in value.

ANDERSON.

SHASTA COUNTY. A post, express, and telegraph town on the Central and Oregon Railroad, 11 miles south of Redding.

This place is rapidly becoming of importance, being the chief distributing point of supplies for Northern California. Its trade extends to Modoc and Lassen Counties, California, and to Lake County, Oregon, and is fostered by a splendid system of roads, over which stages and freight teams run daily. It is the center of a large farming, stock-raising and lumbering section, and within a radius of 30 miles there are six saw-mills, one a planing and saw-mill and sash and door factory combined, several of which are of large capacity. The town also has a flouring mill, which has lately been enlarged and altered into the New Roller process, with a capacity of 75 barrels per day; it has a weekly newspaper, the Anderson Enterprise, and has lately built a large and commodious school-house capable of accommodating 250 children. It has three hotels, and by their competition the public are benefited, giving Anderson the reputation of being a good hotel town. A bright future may be looked forward to for this place.

WILLIAM W. GOODRICH,

Architecht,

1004 BROADWAY, OAKLAND, CAL.

If you anticipate building or remodeling, it is well to remember that as much material and labor is required to build a distorted, unpleasing building, as for one attractive. Hence the first move by any one contemplating building, is to employ an experienced ARCHITECT, as he will relieve his employer of all trouble and annoyance, saving the client several times the amount of the Architect's fees and preventing any errors during building operations, rendering the entire design well studied, pleasing and architecturally constructed. I will furnish plans and drawings, in elevation and detail, with specifications, estimates and bills of material of every description, for Churches, Banking Houses, Schools, Villas, Cottages, Carriage Houses, Barns, Railroad Stations, Stores, Theatres, Opera Houses, Hotels, Monuments, &c. Special attention given to Ecclesiastical Architecture in all its details.

Superintendence of all building operations during construction, insure the designs correctly executed, and the materials and work in accordance with the specifications. Full size drawings in detail of every feature, exterior and interior, are necessary with every set of plans.

Professional Charges of W. W. GOODRICH, C. E., Architecht

OF OAKLAND, CAL.

BAKERSFIELD.

KERN COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office; the county seat, 1 mile from Sumner on the S. P. R. R., 314 miles from San Francisco. It is a thriving town of 1,500 inhabitants, and can boast of solidity and wealth. It is in a fine agricultural and stock country. There are a number of churches, schools and hotels, and three newspapers are published in the town altogether. Bakersfield has an appearance of prosperity and comfort. The surrounding country is adapted to agriculture, stock-raising and mining. Wheat and barley are grown extensively, also corn and potatoes. The semi-tropical fruits have been tested, and with the most satisfactory results. Steps have been taken to colonize a tract of land south of Bakersfield, and special inducements are offered to immigrants. The lands offered are as good as the valley boasts.

BERKELEY.

ALAMEDA COUNTY. It lies on the eastern shore of the Bay of San Francisco and about five miles north of Oakland. It was organized under a special town charter in the year 1878, and still continues under the same government. East Berkeley, aside from being the seat of the State University, consists principally of residences of men whose business is in San Francisco. West Berkeley is chiefly devoted to manufacturing interests. During the past year the new sewer system has been extended, and an Electric Light Company and a National Bank have been organized.

From its location it is the center of large freight shipments, quicksilver and sulphur from the Lake County mines being hauled to this point for shipment by rail. The famous Petrified Forests are found about 5 miles from the town, while the Geysers are 26 miles distant. Stage lines radiate from Calistoga to all points in Lake County, in one direction, and in others to Knight's Landing, the Geysers, and Santa Rosa. The town has a good town hall, three churches, and its full complement of business houses. In its hotel accommodations it ranks exceptionally well for a town of its size.

CHICO.

BUTTE COUNTY. Chico is the largest town of Butte County, situated on the Oregon Division of the S. P. Co., about 90 miles distant from Sacramento. Beautifully located, it is the garden spot of Butte, surrounded by immense farms and timber lands. It has churches, fine brick school-houses, several private schools and three large public halls. It has excellent water and gas works, and several fire hose companies. It has a city government. The surrounding country is well settled. The manufacturing interest is increasing.

A Board of Trade has lately been established in Chico to promote the citrus and other interests of her citizens. The board is composed of the most enterprising business men of the city, under the presidency of Mr. A. H. Crew. They meet every Tuesday at the City Hall. Those seeking information about Chico and the surrounding country should address the secretary of this Board, Mr. W. H. Schooler, who will willingly give any information required.

General John Bidwell's ranch is well worth a visit of many miles to see. The grounds adjoining the house are beautifully laid out in shrubbery, fruit, and ornamental trees of all descriptions. The General carries on many other industries, prominent among which is the Chico Roller Flouring Mills, which has a large capacity and manufactures flour of the best quality.

TOWN TRUSTEES.—James Davison president, B. W. H. Sherwood, M. L. Mery and Dr. A. McFadyen; J. Longfellow town marshal, C. G. Warren clerk and attorney.

Chico is an enterprising, lively town, and is doing all in her power to keep in the front rank. Its population is now estimated at 7,500.

THE STENOGRAPH

Short-Hand Writing Machine.

SIMPLE, RAPID, ACCURATE.

Can be learned in one-third the time the pencil systems require.

ALL its work is uniform and mechanically exact. Its use is pleasant and does not strain the eyes, hands, or body. Can be operated in the dark as well as in the light, and used upon the lap in a public assembly, without attracting notice. The writing of one operator can easily be read by another. We claim that we have in the Stenograph a system of short-hand as rapid as any other; the most exact and uniform, the least tiresome in practice, and by far the most easily and quickly learned.

To demonstrate the success of the Stenograph we refer with pride to the large number of leading firms who are employing scholars from our Short-hand and Type-writing School, and we will give TRIAL LESSONS FREE to show how easily the use of our machines may be acquired.

☞ Send for catalogue and particulars. All are welcome who will visit our stores and schools. Branch schools at Los Angeles, Sacramento, and Portland, Oregon.

CLOVERDALE.

SONOMA COUNTY. A post, express, and telegraph office, situated at the head of Russian River Valley, 90 miles from San Francisco, and 32 miles from Santa Rosa, the county seat; a place of 1,500 inhabitants and the terminus of the S. F. & N. P. R. R. Many wealthy retired business men have made it their home, owing to its pleasant climate and congenial surroundings. Its hotel accommodations are the best. It is noted for its agricultural and viticultural resources, as also one of the most healthy and beautifully romantic resorts of the State, it being located in a perfect amphitheater formed by the surrounding hills. The water supply is perfect and abundant. Alder Glen Springs, situated about 3 miles from town, is a noted summer resort. At this point stages run to the world-wide famous Geyser, and the numerous springs and resorts of Lake County. Five stage lines leave the United States Hotel daily for points north in Mendocino and Lake Counties. There is a prosperous bank, besides real estate, loan and insurance offices. New industries are continually being started up. The town ably supports one newspaper, the Cloverdale Reveille, George B. Baer publisher. Its columns are devoted to the interests of its section, and are evidence of the healthy business interests and of the prosperity of its community.

COLUSA.

COLUSA COUNTY. The county seat; population 2,500. Situated on the west bank of the Sacramento River, about 90 miles from Sacramento. Reached by S. P. Co.'s C. P. R. R. to Colusa Junction, thence by Colusa and Lake R. R. 12 miles. The steamers of the Sacramento Transportation Co. make frequent trips. The town was laid out in 1850, and has prospered steadily ever since. It is surrounded by very fertile agricultural land, and is the center of the largest grain-growing district in the valley. The land hereabouts is generally farmed in large tracts, but it is well cared for. Nearly every acre of it is productive. It may be imagined with some reason that Colusa is a very important shipping point, and that a vast capital is represented there. Transactions up in the hundreds of thousands are of frequent occurrence. The town presents a fine appearance with its stately Court House and Hall of Records, as well as its many other business blocks, and private buildings. It has good hotel accommodations, the Colusa and the National being both worthy of special commendation. The community of the town is refined, sociable and hospitable; its churches and schools are numerous and commanding in appearance, and its hotels are well constructed and commodious. The Colusa Sun, published by Colusa Sun Publishing Co., and edited by Will S. Green, is one of the ablest papers in the State, and it is as widely quoted as its editor is known.

YOLO COUNTY. This, the second town in size in the county, is situated in the extreme southern part, 11 miles from Woodland. Here the northern branch of the California Pacific Division of the S. P. Co. leaves the main line, running north to Woodland and Grafton. The town is in the center of a large and well-developed farming district, and has a large portion of northern Solano tributary to its business interests. Fruit culture in the neighborhood has become one of the paramount industries, many large orchards being located here. From 30,000 to 35,000 tons of grain are shipped annually from this point.

The town is enjoying a fair degree of progress, has good hotel accommodations. It has a full quota of mercantile and mechanical establishments. The town has complete postal, express and telegraphic facilities. Population about 700.

ALAMEDA COUNTY. A new town recently laid out on the Western Division and Amador Branch of the S. P. Co., 20 miles from Oakland and 3 miles from Niles. Its projectors claim for it a promising future. Overshadowed on the rear by the high bluffs, which here form the advanced sentinels of the Coast Range, and flanked and fronted by a broad vista of level plains, its wide avenues already well shaded with the fragrant eucalyptus, would seem to justify its selection as the spot for a suburban home. It has post, express and telegraph offices already established.

FAIRFIELD.

SOLANO COUNTY. This town, the county seat of Solano, is situated 46 miles from San Francisco on the S. P. Co.'s Cal. Pac. R. R. Division. It is pleasantly laid out, but aside from the importance it obtains from its being the capital of the county, it would be more properly classed as a residence town, since a considerable portion of its tributary business is taken by Suisun. It has complete postal, telegraph, and express connections, and a population of about 900.

FALL RIVER MILLS.

SHASTA COUNTY. Post and express office, situated in Fall River Valley, 45 miles northeast of the railroad at Delta, and 87 miles from Shasta, the county seat. The town was established in 1872, and has now a population of 250. Elevation, 3,100 feet. Supported by stock interests—cattle and horse-raising principally. The country within a radius of 35 or 40 miles is supplied principally with flour and grain from Fall River Valley, and the extensive area of fine land in the valley is capable of a much larger production. The town possesses a hotel, general store, flouring mill, livery stable, door and sash factory, wagon shop, saw mill, at the head of the valley, and several smaller businesses. The trout-fishing here is excellent, especially in the spring and summer. The hotel accommodation is good. Redding is its nearest banking town.

FRESNO.

FRESNO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph town on the S. P. Co.'s Visalia Division, 207 miles from San Francisco and 55 miles from Merced; population 10,000. Fresno is the county seat, and is pleasantly situated in a fine agricultural district in the San Joaquin Valley. The surrounding country is being rapidly put into vineyards and fruit of all kinds; and it is considered by all who visit it to be the finest viticultural district in the United States. The colonies in Fresno County are famous the world over for productiveness and attractiveness. On visiting this active, thriving town, one is sensibly impressed with the indomitable spirit of energy displayed on every side. All branches of business as well as the professions are well represented here.

GRIDLEY.

BUTTE COUNTY. The town is situated on the Oregon Division of the C. P. R. R., 70 miles north of Sacramento, 15 miles west of Oroville, 26 miles south of Chico, 2½ miles from Feather River, and 20 miles east of the Sacramento River; has a population of 700. Agriculture is its chief source of support, being surrounded by rich arable land of three different qualities, to wit: river bottom, where failure of crops is unknown; timber land, which has a fine sandy soil peculiarly adapted for wheat, the wood paying the expense of cleaning, and the adobe land west of town, which is a fine grain-producing soil, now being drained and cultivated in such a manner that a good crop every year is almost certain. The town is beautifully located in the center of a grove of live-oak timber, where there is sandy soil, making it free from mud during winter. There are three churches. The various fraternal societies are represented and are in a prosperous condition. It has also a bank and several large warehouses, affording storage for an immense quantity of grain.

HAYWARDS.

ALAMEDA COUNTY. This town is situated in one of the most attractive portions of the county, 22 miles from San Francisco, and 1 mile from the station of the same name, on the S. P. Co.'s Western Division. The surrounding country is very fertile. The cereals, although producing largely, have been gradually giving way to fruit and vegetable culture. The dairy interest, already including many large establishments, is also becoming quite prominent in this locality; but it is to the superabundant foliage in which it is embowered, including many ornamental trees, noticeably among which is the Japanese persimmon, that Haywards owes much of its present reputation. This feature has made it an established summer resort, and secures for it a fair share of the guests who seek relief in such scenes from the oppression of a city's summer, its principal hotel, the Haywards House, being always full during the season, and the drive to Tony Oakes has come to be regarded as a second edition of a "Trip to Brighton." It has post, express and telegraph facilities, and a population of about 1,500.

HEALDSBURG.

SONOMA COUNTY. This town, the largest in northern Sonoma, and the third in size in the county, is situated near the Russian River, about the center of the valley. It is located on a rise, about 40 feet above the river at low water, and possesses extraordinary beauty in its surroundings. It is surrounded by a thriving and fertile agricultural and wine-growing country, carries on a well-sustained business in all mercantile lines, and is annually growing into larger and larger proportions. The town has a bank, a live and wide-awake newspaper—the Healdsburg Enterprise—a college, ample public school facilities, several churches, a large flouring mill, and its full complement of business establishments. It is reached by the S. F. & N. P. R. R. Population about 1,600.

SAN BENITO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph town on the Tres Pinos branch of the S. P. Co.'s Northern Division. It is situated in the center of a rich agricultural district. The people of Hollister are wide-awake to the advantages they have, and are untiring in taking advantage of them. It has an efficient fire department, one of the finest flouring mills in the State, excellent educational institutions, both public and private, churches of different denominations, two excellent weekly newspapers, and presents to an observing visitor all the signs of a prosperous and growing town. Owing to its situation in the center of the San Benito Valley, it is of unusual importance as a shipping point. It has post, express and telegraph offices, hotels and a bank, also a commodious passenger and freight depot.

and architectural beauty. The yards are rich in the possession of shrubs, plants, and trees of rare species, and are, consequently, an attractive feature of the place. It is the northern terminus of the Amador Branch of the S. P. Co.'s Western Division, has telegraphic communication, and a daily mail. The mines in the vicinity of the town are gold producing, though the chief pursuit engaged in is farming, fruit and vegetables attaining a remarkable size and delicious flavor. It is 48 miles from Sacramento via Galt. The water is pure, clear, and cold, and its sanitary condition is most excellent. The scenery in the immediate vicinity is picturesque and grand. Sacramento is its nearest banking town.

LAKEPORT.

LAKE COUNTY. County seat and postoffice. Population about 800. This is the most desirable residence town that has ever presented itself to our observation. It is situated on a beautiful slope overlooking Clear Lake at a point favorable for the view. The climate is mild and much sought for by invalids. When other parts of the interior of California are subjected to excessive heat, the climate of Lakeport is agreeable and there are no trying winds. Lakeport is a very pretty town and is rapidly improving. There are three fine hotels with first-class accommodations. It is reached by the S. F. & N. P. R. R. to Cloverdale, thence by daily stage 40 miles northeast.

LIVERMORE.

ALAMEDA COUNTY. A thriving, growing town of about 1,500 inhabitants, located in Livermore Valley on the S. P. Co.'s Western Division, and about 48 miles from San Francisco. It has good hotel accommodations, and sustains two newspapers, the Livermore Echo, and the Livermore Herald. The Methodist, Presbyterian and Catholic denominations have, and support, three commodious and comfortable church buildings and organizations. The Livermore Valley being very productive in grain, large and extensive warehouses for storage purposes have been located here, so that in this respect Livermore is not excelled. West of the town are some of the finest vineyards in the county. Livermore has post, express, and telegraph offices, as well as telephonic connection with other towns.

SAN JOAQUIN COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office on the S. J. & S. N. R. R. It is pleasantly located among the live-oaks. The Mokelumne River bottom is about a mile wide at this place, and the banks on the south side rise suddenly from the lowland, about forty feet, where Lockeford is built, and one seldom looks out on a more attractive landscape than is presented in looking over and down upon the sleepy valley, sprinkled with oaks that cast their dark shadows upon the carpet of green. The business of the town depends upon the interest of fruit growing and agriculture for support. Population about 500.

LODI.

SAN JOAQUIN COUNTY. The Lodi fire, October 11, 1887, originated in Mechanics' Planing Mill, and in a short time the whole business block bounded by Sacramento, Pine, and Elm Streets was entirely destroyed, except the Grangers' Co-operative Business Association Building, which escaped with the destruction of the front. Although disastrous in its character, it has not by any means disheartened the business men. There now stands on the same ground a fine row of brick buildings, occupied by the Grangers' Association above mentioned, cor Sacramento and Elm, and other business houses the names of which will be found in the Lodi directory following.

Since our last resume of Lodi, the Lodi Flouring Mills Building has been erected, which is 40x38 feet in dimensions, four stories high, and equipped with the latest improved machinery, and has a capacity of 200 barrels of best family flour, daily, and gives employment to fifteen men.

Location 12 miles north of Stockton and 38 miles south of Sacramento, and in the northern part of the county. It is also the junction of the western terminus of the S. J. & S. N. R. R., which extends to the foot-hills at Valley Springs, Calaveras County. The general information of the day is amply supplied by two bright newspapers, the Daily and Weekly Sentinel, and the Lodi Weekly News.

Lodi and her surroundings require no boom, her superior soil and climate and a never-failing supply of water furnished by the Mokelumne Ditch and Irrigation Co., and the energy of her real estate men, will secure a large share of immigration, who in turn will develop and occupy the country. The outlook is very favorable for the establishing of vineyards, fruit orchards, and alfalfa fields.

LOS ALAMOS.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY. A thriving little town located in a beautiful valley. It is at present the terminus of the Pacific Coast Railroad, 63 miles south from Port Harford, and 56 miles south from San Luis Obispo. It is a delightful ride through the valley, of four hours, on the beautiful narrow-gauge coaches of the Pacific Coast Railroad. The surrounding country is most beautiful. On all sides is the level, fertile valley, one of the richest in the southern part of California. The productions are grain, principally wheat. The hill lands are used for stock raising. The population is about 500, consisting of a very nice class of people. The business men are progressive and enterprising. The town has good hotel accommodation, a commodious school-house, a store and blacksmith shop. It is reached by Pacific Coast steamers to Port Harford and Pacific Coast Railway.

LOS ANGELES.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY. Los Angeles (The Angels) the metropolis of Southern California, contains about thirty-six square miles and is situated in Los Angeles County, on the Los Angeles River, on the slope of the Santa Monica Mountains.

The river, which is spanned by several substantial bridges, flows through the city to the east of the center, and divides it into Los Angeles proper and East Los Angeles.

From San Francisco, the city is reached by the S. P. route, or by the Pacific Coast steamers to Wilmington, and thence by a branch of the S. P. to Los Angeles. The city is the western terminus of the A. T. & S. F. system, hence has direct communication with the East over two roads. There are several local railroads that bring the outlying towns into close communication with the metropolis.

Los Angeles is noted for its delightful winter climate, and for the magnificent orange groves and fine vineyards that cover the surrounding country. Although the summers are warm, they are not oppressive, while the winters are almost free from frost, and are delightful in the extreme.

The soil is very fertile, and mostly sandy. The orange groves have to be irrigated, and for this purpose the waters of the Los Angeles River are extensively used.

A YOUNG MAN, who wants a BUSINESS EDUCATION, should read opposite page 513.

KLUNE & FLOBERG Carry a Large Stock of fine JEWELRY, 428 J Street, cor. 5th, SACRAMENTO.

The growth of the city has been phenomenal, the population having increased from 11,300 in 1880 to about 70,000 at the present time. Handsome and substantial brick and stone buildings are rapidly replacing the old adobe or frame business buildings, while in the residence portions of the city, new houses are rapidly being put up. Carpenters and builders are constantly employed.

East Los Angeles has not been at a standstill, but new houses are constantly going up, both for dwellings and for business purposes, while an energetic board of trade is actively working for the interests of the East Side.

So rapidly has the whole city grown that the "City Fathers" have not been able to supply all the needed improvements, but are now working faithfully to procure a perfect sewer system, and well-paved streets.

Los Angeles boasts of a fine electric street railroad and two cable roads in full operation. Besides these, there are twelve street-car lines, several of which run from two to five miles beyond the city limits.

In express, postal, and telegraphic facilities, Los Angeles is not behind other cities of its size. Eight daily papers are published, also about eighteen weekly and a number of monthly papers.

The streets are lighted by the electric light, there being about forty masts from sixty-five to one hundred and fifty feet in height.

There are about forty churches, some of them being very handsome edifices. All denominations are represented.

The public schools, under the supervision of an efficient superintendent, are excellent. There are about twenty school buildings at present, and more will probably be built during the year. Besides the public schools, including a large branch of the State Normal, there are many private schools, both Catholic and Protestant. There is also a fine University with law and medical departments.

Although all kinds of business flourish in Los Angeles, manufacturing is an important industry. Among the factories are the Baker Iron Works, a soap factory, a cracker factory, and also a large flour mill. Agriculture, horticulture, and viticulture are the leading industries.

The people are justly proud of their beautiful city, and when the improvements now planned are completed, it will rank among the foremost cities of the Union.
